TREASURY DEPARTMENT, MAY 26, 1851.

CEPARATE PROPORALS FOR FURNISHDING the stationery and for executing the printing of this Department during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1852, will be received until 3 o'clock, p. m., on the 26th day of June next. Those unaccompanied by satisfactory testimonials of ability to fulfil a contract will not be considered.

All the articles of stationery must be of the very best quality—samples of the principal articles of which, such as paper, quills, metallic pens, lead pencils, knives, &c., must accompany the bids, put up in classes as per schedule, and the Department reserves the right to retain such samples, and pay for the same at the prices stated in the offer, or to return them, at its option. No bid will be considered where the articles accompanying it are not of the very best quality and entirely suited to the wants of the Department; and inforior, spurious, or imitation articles will subject the class to which they belong, or the entire bid, to rejection, at the pleasure of the Department.

Each proposal must be signed by the individual or firm making it, and must specify a price, and but one price, for each and every article contained in the schedule. Blank forms for proposals will be furnished at the Department to persons applying for them; and as without uniformity therein the Department would find it difficult to make a decision, none will be taken into consideration unless substantially agreeing therewith.

The printing must be executed with new and perfect type, and on the best paper used for the different descriptions required. The paper for the printing will be furnished by the contractor; the Department, or the office ordering it, to designate the kind of paper and type, whether script or otherwise, and the number to go on a sheet, when the matter or article will admit of more than one.

Each class will be considered separately, and, all other things being equal, it will be assigned to the lowest bidder for such class, or to the lowest bidd ontract.

All the articles to be furnished and work to be accuted must be of the best quality, and delivered without delay when ordered, and to the satisfaction of the head of the office for which they are reguire.

Supplying an inferior article at any time will be semed sofficient forthwith to annul the contract. Honds, with approved security, to be given by a person or persons contracting; and in case of failure to supply the articles or to perform the ork, the contractor and his sureties shall be liable r the forfeiture specified in such bond, as liquitated damages. The tracts embraced in the above proclamation of the President comprise all the residue of the lead mines yet to be brought into market south of the Wisconsin river. They cover those mines (particularly the portion situated in Illineis) worked under former leases from the Government which had not expired at the date of the sale of the adjacent mines, and therefore possess the advantage of being prepared for immediate operations, without incurring the increased expenses incidental to opening new mines, and most of them are believed to be very productive. They are all more or less conveniently situated in reference to the navigable rivers and other cheap means of transportation of their products to St. Louis, and are in the midst of a country yielding abundantly all the agricultural products of the latitude in which they are located.

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY.

Price Reduced to Six Dollars.

THE entire work, unabridged, in 1 volume, Crown Quarto, of 1,452 pages—"Containing three times the matter found in any other English Dictionary compiled in this country, or any abridgment of this work, and yet 'its definitions are models of condensation and purity."—Hon. W. C. Calhoun. Revised by Professor C. A. Goodalon, of Yale College.

"We believe weshall be certain of doing a service to the people of the State, if we say a word or two upon the unabridged Quarto Dictionary of the English Language, by Noah Webster. The word unabridged has been purposely employed, because if such a work is wanted for any but the very lowest uses—those of mere orthography or orthoepy—it cannot be loo copious and comprehensive. When one is ignorant of the proper and precise powers of a word, he cannot endure to be turned over to an abridgment that gives him a synonym, instead of a definition; but he demands to know as much as anybody knows of its history or etymology, and all its different shades of meaning. Then only can he employ it with confidence and effect, as a mighty weapon for the expression of intellect or passion.

"In the vital department of a lexicon, its definitions, for which, more than any and all other reasons put together, we consult such a work. Dr. Webster's work stands unrivalled. Their copiousness satisfies the wants of the inquirer, and their nice analysis and acumen gratify his taste and reward research. The vocabulary is interspersed with terms in science, which it is very convenient often to have explained with promptness, without the trouble of reference to the shelves of the library."—Neverk Daily Advertiser, March 25, 1851.

"A Dictionary is the last book which a scholar ever wants to have abridged, the process being sure to cut off THE VERY MATTER WHICH HE MOST VALUES."—Okronotype.
